Nicola J Bloedel sent these dispatched from Australia

From Nicola Bloedel on 1 Nov
"Luke (Bloedel) and I are going to see Evan Logan this weekend. ALVEI is in dry dock for the next 10+ days along the Brisbane River. Plan to share the Regina Maris reunion photos/stories."

From Nicola on 20 Nov.
"We're with him again right now, looking for a berth when ALVEI goes back in the water again soon. If you have any queries, here's Evan's email address: Evan Logan <alvei@yahoo.com>"

From Nicola on 23 Nov
"At this point, with a lack of crew, it looks like Evan will be around in Brisbane until April 2014 when he hopes to sail off to Fiji. In the meantime, he's trying to find a place to tie up along the Brisbane River which is not going to cost him a fortune."

Here's a local paper story on Alvei's visit to Brisbane.

Regina Maris T-shirts Underway

Marc Orbach continues to work on getting replica Tshirts printed for us. Pictured above are an original (c. 1980) T-Shirt, and the scanned image from the original ink-on-mylar artwork . Through information provided by Ann Nichols (RMcrew '76-'84), Marc was able to trace down the original ORES-era design artwork at a T-Shirt shop in the Woods Hole, MA, area. Mark is working on setting up online ordering and fulfillment through www.Tspring.com. We should be able to start the ordering process very soon. Ordering instructions will be announced here in the Jolly Boat newsletter and at the "Friends and Crew of the Regina Maris Facebook Group."

The North Shore Ship 5 Sea Scouts operate out the Maritime Gloucester facilities, the host site for our recent Regina Maris Reunion 2013. The source of this was unused funds remaining after the Reunion accounts were settled.

Share the Spirit of the Season

This holiday season, if you looking for a gift of time or money to give in honor of a friend or loved one, consider giving the gift a a membership or donation to organizations that provide the kind of experiences that we all benefited from during our time aboard Regina. Here's a brief list of organizations that can claim Regina and /or her former crew (that's us!) in their family tree. Know of other similar endeavors that can claim a Regina connection? Let us know, We'll share it here. And when you do make that gift or join one of these organizations, if you do end up joining any of these organizations, make sure to let them know you are Regina Maris crew.

Boston to Greenland and Return

July - Sept 1982 Ken Balcomb logbook

"The ship looks fine after a yard period of four weeks during which the stern was largely rebuilt and the hull was generally scoured and painted. Ken Edwards, our master-certified 2nd mate from Australia, was the overseer of the yard work, and he did a fine job of it. Regina is better fit to set to sea than I have ever seen before. We are completely provisioned for a nine week expedition to the West Coast of Greenland where we will study Minke whales and humpback whales and report our findings to the IWC and the Government of Denmark. I am the Chief Scientist of the expedition; Judy Perkins will join me in Newfoundland; and Finn Larsen and an assistant will join us in Greenland. We haveeleven students on board and a crew of fourteen. This promises to be an excellent expedition, and it is the first one which leaves money in the bank when we depart . . .

So begins Ken Balcomb's account of ORES Expedition 36. Read his entire account, complete with documentary photos and annotated contact sheets HERE

Jolly Holiday Picture & Story Share

The December JollyBoat No. 16. is still slated to be the "Jolly Holiday Picture & Story Share" Issue. I know that many (if not most) of you are card carrying Procrastinators. So here's the exact moment I will press the send button to distribute the Jolly Boat No. 16.

Winter Solstice
Saturday
21 December 2013
17:11 UTC

That is the moment of the Winter Solstice in the Northern Hemisphere. So get out your sextants, set your chronometers, and be ready. But do me a favor, get your stuff in a few days ahead of time so I have time to load it into the Jolly Boat.

What to Submit:
One photo and/or story submitted that depicts a Regina Holiday or Event that you shared with your shipmates. Christmas is good, but so is any holiday (Thanksgiving, Easter, Fourth of July, etc) or maritime event (Crossing the Equator, Surviving a Hurricane). I know there were some cold Christmases spent in icy shipyards, and there was certainly more than one Equator crossing visited by Neptune himself. If you can't find a picture, send in your diary entry for a Holiday, or scribble out a brief description of your favorite Regina Holiday Event.

No Picture? No Problem:
If you have a story, but no picture, send the story. One of your mates can probably come up with an appropriate picture or illustration.

How to Submit:
Send in JPG picture files to reginamaris1908@gmail.com and put "Holiday" in the subject line. In the body of the email include the reporter facts: who, what, when, where, why.

Assistant Jolly Boat Editor needed:
If any of you would like to help organize and edit this Special Edition Holiday Jolly Boat, let me know.
